

Claytek Announces Partnership with Indigenous- owned Kisik Industrial

Edmonton, Alberta (September 17, 2021) – Claytek Inc. and Kisik Industrial Services are pleased to announce a partnership to provide an array of environmental services to the energy, construction and municipal sectors.

This relationship will allow for the alignment of values, the exploration of new markets and technologies, the reduction of expenses and the mitigation of risks. Together, Claytek and Kisik will also have a positive impact on speed of delivery, quality and innovation.

Claytek and Kisik will work to strengthen and advance mutually beneficial economic interests through respectful and transparent relationships. The partners look forward to building and maintaining a long-term relationship that creates and promotes sustainable business practices, employment, change and growth for our clients and partners.

The partnership will allow Kisik to provide existing and new clients with innovative and sustainable solutions for industrial water treatment, soil remediation and difficult-to-manage sludge and slurries.

About Claytek

Claytek uses world-leading natural and engineered clay products alongside innovative, simple processes that effectively treat wastewater, remediate soil, and convert aqueous waste into manageable (stackable) solid waste for effective, volume-reduced disposal.

Claytek has worked alongside the largest construction, energy and environmental companies deploying proven technologies that ensure compliance with the toughest wastewater and slurry management challenges.

About Kisik

Kisik is an Alberta-based, Indigenous-owned and operated business that offers a wide range of site services and rental equipment to the oil and gas, construction and municipal sectors. Kisik rents generators, pumps, light towers and more. It provides surface and subsurface pumping, dewatering and well tests. Kisik supplies and maintains pumps and provides HDPE fusing.

Kisik values diversity in its partners and recognizes the benefits of strategic cooperation with large, diverse organizations.
